I did not learn of Dr. Garrison's passing until this morning. He was such a kind, intelligent, and helpful educator at LSUS. I know that he will be greatly missed by all his former students in the Ed. Leadership program. He was my favorite professor because he had a heart! Last spring my mother was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer and she spent over a month in the hospital dealing with a blockage caused by her tumor. Dr. Garrison was so understanding when and if I needed to miss class to be with her and my family. I'll never forget that. I wish I had known that he was struggling with cancer in that last month of classes. He is a strong man! I will be praying for his family. -Jenna Bolin (Thomas)

I first met Larry in 1979 when Tim introduced me to him; he was then band director at Dollarway High School. I remembered being impressed by the depth and breadth of knowledge he had, as well as his generous spirit. Twenty years later, I joined the 106th, and over time learned that Larry would prove to be one of the smartest, funniest and most well-rounded people I've ever met. His was a life well-lived.

I met Larry when I was 17 and a newly enlisted soldier in the 106th Army Band, Arkansas Army National Guard. Although a few years older, Larry and I became fast friends. Over the next 20 years, we would spend an enormous amount of time together. Effectively, Larry watched me grow up ... and had a hand in my formation. I am a different father, husband, friend and person than I would have been without Larry's influence. I owe him a lot. Rest in Peace Larry.

I was very sorry to hear of Dr. Garrison's passing. He was my high school band director at Morrilton Senior High School in Arkansas, and although I had not spoken with him in almost thirty years, I recall well his kindness toward me and his words of advice and wisdom. He performed minor repairs on my horn when I could not afford to send it to the shop, found me a good inexpensive mouthpiece, and helped me work through difficult passages I was learning for solo and ensemble competitions and regional band tryouts. I had no idea that he had built such an impressive career in higher education and wish that I had kept up with him. My sincere condolences, I know that he will be missed.

I had the privilege of working closely with Larry at LSUS. He was a knowledgeable and kind man and a trusted friend. His interests were varied; he was deeply involved in many aspects of our campus. He served on the Faculty Senate, worked tirelessly to help create the Ed.D. Program, was always willing to serve on committees (from curriculum and course redesign, to technology, to community involvement, etc.). He was active in his field beyond the Shreveport area. He held several offices in the Louisiana Council of Professors of Educational Administrators and served as president for the past two years. He was the backbone of the Ed Leadership department at LSUS and worked with the Louisiana Fellows Program and the Louisiana School Turnaround Program. I always felt that Larry was happiest when working with aspiring and practicing school leaders. He was a man of deep faith and unconditional love for his family. Mary Lynn, Heather, and Tamsin- I pray you will find comfort in your many memories. He positively impacted so many lives. God bless. Julie Bergeron

Larry Garrison was the best military friend I ever had. Had the situation ever been forced upon us, I would have trusted him with my life in a combat zone and known that I was in good hands. Fortunately for us our service only consisted of playing music for others who had been in combat zones and at that he was superb!! He will be missed as a soldier, as an educator and most of all as a friend.

Please accept our condolences for your loss. I had the wonderful privilege to see Dr. Garrison in more than one way. He was a great colleague, professor, and most importantly a friend. He was always a pleasure to talk with and was extremely kind and encouraging to me through my dad's trial just over a year ago. I will always recall him telling me to "take care of your dad first." I am forever grateful for his understanding during that time. He also taught me a lot through his classes and all of his experiences in education and life. He will be dearly missed here on earth. My family will be praying for you Ms. Mary Lynn and all of Dr. Garrison's family during this time. May each one you ask God to provide you with peace and comfort like only HE can do.
