I knew Chuck well and considered him a very good friend. For all who knew Chuck he sometimes appeared rough on the outside but he was one of the biggest "Teddy bears" you could have meet. The kind of guy who gave but did not want to be noticed for giving. He respected hard work and valued the guys he worked with. Chuck was gifted in business and above all cherished his family. I know how blessed he felt for the life God blessed him with. He lived life without limitations in whatever in put his mind on doing. We will miss his laugh, his care for others, and just being there with him. \r\n\r\nGod bless, Kathy,Blake and Jillian

I considered Chuck a good friend. Chuck was the kind of guy who pretended to be a little rough on the outside, but was actually one of the biggest "Teddy bears" I ever knew. He gave often but did not want to be acknowledged, he gave people a chance because he was given a chance. He knew how blessed he was, with his beautiful family. His talented children, his beautiful\r\nand supportive wife. If you ever needed anything Chuck was there \r\n\r\nChuck lived a full life, we he set his mind on something consider it done. Chuck's work ethic was incredible, and he respected those he worked with. When he stopped getting on you something then you had to worry about Chuck.
