Bob, was, is and shall always be an inspirational and true friend to me, my wife and our family. His passing has created a void in this world, far and wide, a void that only few have the abilities to fill. We had many conversations about life and our fellow man, about Christ and about Heaven, about the duties of man and mankind when it came to family and community responsibilities. Bob was a loving man and a serious man, a man of many thoughts, many accomplishments and many dreams. Bob will be loved and missed by so many, Heaven has received a great man. I really believe I'll see him at St. Peters Gates.....God called him home, for the changing of the guard.....till we meet again old soldier and old friend.
